Press Release - Dienst Verpackungstechnik GmbH

Dienst Packaging machines still on the upswing

Side Load

Durability thanks to quality.

We are premium manufacturers in the area of horizontal cartoners (side load) within the food industry. In addition, we also sell machines for top load and end of line applications.

We offer customer-specific machine solutions upon request and are a recognized partner of leading international producers in the food and non-food industries.

With ongoing investments over the past years in manufacturing, plant engineering and human resources, the solid business development is being continued.

The strong economic situation within the mechanical engineering industry contributed to a substantial revenue growth for the first quarter of 2018. Orders up until 2019 made it possible to forecast a continuous strong growth for the upcoming future.

Especially the standardised Pizza Cartoner P³ created its own success-story. In order to furthermore shorten the already reduced delivery times, new ideas in manufacturing processes are being worked out. The current ERP system undergoes continuous modifications in order to achieve faster and more effective lead times.

The Purchasing and Production Planning departments have been staffed with new and well experienced employees who restructure internal and external processes. Furthermore, with the support of Polar-Mohr the Service department was enlarged and will continue to grow. Providing good quality service for the low-maintenance Dienst machines is a key-element of the company's philosophy.

With an increase in staff of about 10% in the first quarter 2018, the prospects on faster and increasing deliveries as well as being able to pursue new developments and a good service are bright. The close cooperation in all fields with Polar-Mohr allows the over-take of high educated industrial trainees as in the fields of mechanics and electronics.

As many other companies, Dienst looks for good-calibre staff. There is particular demand for staff in the departments Sales, Service and Production. A comfortable situation for employees and a happy one for the companies when the right staff has been found, based on good cooperation attitude and serving customer needs.
